CEO Message

Dear Friends of Children and Families,

As we release our annual report, I am proud to reflect on NCHS’s impact and growth over the past year. Our numbers demonstrate the measurable outcomes of our efforts, but we know that our agency’s success is rooted in the countless moments of triumph of the families we serve. Each metric represents a story of strength and resilience.

As we celebrate our 130th year, we honor the legacy of the NCHS and its enduring commitment to provide a safe and loving home for every child. From the Great Depression to present day, our agency has weathered many challenges, but we have always remained steadfast in our mission to serve the children and families in our community.

A copy of The Nebraska Children’s Home Society Advocate from 1933 was recently brought to my attention. The nation was in the throes of the Great Depression, and the agency’s financial situation was bleak. Despite the insurmountable odds, the board proudly stated that the agency “continued to function with the record of not refusing any child who should rightfully come to the Home during these financially trying times.”

I am pleased to report that our agency is in a strong position and well-equipped to continue making a positive impact. We have a tenacious team and dedicated champions who share our vision of a world where all children thrive. Our financial sustainability ensures that we can continue to offer essential services to those in need.

I want to take a moment to thank everyone who has contributed to our success, from our staff and volunteers to our donors and community partners. As you read through this report, know that the unwavering support of our community has ensured that we can deliver life-changing programs and services to those who need it most.

As we move forward, we remain committed to our vision of a world where every child has the opportunity to grow up in a safe and nurturing home. Together, we can make this a reality.

Sincerely,

Lana Temple-Plotz
Chief Executive Officer

Advocacy Efforts

NCHS advocates at state and national levels to advance policies that put children first by prioritizing prevention and early intervention, strengthening the collective community response, disrupting cycles of poverty, abuse and neglect, and supporting children and families of all configurations.

NCHS values the role of advocacy in its pursuit of its mission to provide safe and loving care to children of all ages. Establishing and growing relationships with policymakers is essential to effective advocacy. Introducing an organization’s experience, and expertise are needed to guide well-crafted public policy. This year, Advocacy Director Chris Jones met with 11 state senators to advocate for programs and policies that help Nebraska’s children and families thrive.
